Kemi

Author's Notes:
Came to me at work. Thanks to Lia for the look over :)

Henkka takes a swig of a beer, looking out at the docks.

Marko sighs beside him, watching the seagulls fly overhead.

The birds cry, the lapping water surrounds them.

Marko finishes off his cigarette and glances over at Henkka. Taking in the short hair that frames his face, the red on his cheeks from the cold breeze.

Henkka snorts and downs his beer. He looks over at Marko, taking in the messy hair and fading clothes, the nervous now cigarette less hands playing with his coat.

They both sigh and stare back at the sea. Just another day in Kemi.
